

Attractions Guide – Fuzhou

Three Lanes and Seven Alleys

A 5A Tourist Attraction of China with over 2000 years of history, the area is known as "the source of Fuzhou history". It is the only part of the old city of Fuzhou that has survived from demolition and re-construction. The alleys are paved with slate and with white-tiled houses placed one after another, decorated with pavilions, terraces, buildings, flowers and rockeries, displaying the beauty of ancient streets.

Address:

Sanfang Qiqiang, Yangqiao East Road, Gulou District, Fuzhou

Transportation:

From High Speed Rail Fuzhou Station, take Metro Line 1, get off at Dongjiekou Station and walk for about 12 minutes.

Nanhou Street

Nanhou Street is known for its delicious snacks. Fuzhou's popular snacks such as "Tai Ping Yan" and "Fish Ball" can be found here. Many tea shops and tea clubs are also stationed in this area, displaying the style of the ancient tea market.

Address:

Nanhou Street, Gulou District, Fuzhou

Transportation:

From High Speed Rail Fuzhou Station, take Metro Line 1, get off at Dongjiekou Station and walk for about 10 minutes.

West Lake Park

With a history of more than a thousand years, West Lake Park is the most well-preserved classic garden in Fuzhou with three small islands, namely the Kaihua Island, Xieping Island and Yaojiao Island. Dragon boat races are held here every year during Dragon Boat Festival. In addition, the Fujian Museum and the Food Exhibition Hall are also located in the West Lake Park.

Address:

70 Hubin Road, Gulou District, Fuzhou

Transportation:

From High Speed Rail Fuzhou Station, take Metro Line 1, get off at Dongjiekou Station and walk for about 20 minutes.