

Fuxing Sleeper Train to/from Beijing and Shanghai

Passengers travelling to or from Beijing and Shanghai can take the sleeper train in addition to daytime trains. These are the first routes in the nation to operate a sleeper train using the Fuxing train model. With "sleep and arrive" concept of the sleeper trains, this offers a more flexible and convenient travel option. Sleeper trains operate from Friday to Monday.

Facilities and Services

Night Departure, Morning Arrival:

The train departs in the late evening, allowing passengers to set off after work or dinner. It arrives at the destination early the next morning, enabling you to embark on an exciting itinerary in the after a restful night's sleep

Various Compartment Options:

Apart from sleeper cars, Premium Class and Second Class are also available. Besides, an accessible room is provided for wheelchair passengers

Thoughtful Personal Amenities:

Toiletries pack, slippers, hanger, reading light and hanging hook are available. Besides, power socket is provided at each berth

Other Facilities:

Each compartment has three toilets with additional sinks outside. Complimentary hot water is available (please bring your own bottle or cup)

Remark: Train facilities are subject to change due to train fleet deployment

Compartment Type

The sleeper trains connecting Hong Kong West Kowloon Station with Beijingxi Station and Shanghai Hongqiao Station consist of sixteen cars. The train composition includes fourteen sleeper cars* and two Premium Class/Second Class seating cars. The compartment types are as follows:

| Compartment Type | Specification  | Photo Reference  |
|------------------|--|--|
| Sleeper Class    | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>▶ Quadruple room</li><li>▶ Contains 2 bunk beds</li><li>▶ Power socket for each bed</li><li>▶ Other facilities include a small table and a shared kettle</li><li>▶ The room is separated from the corridor by a sliding door</li><li>▶ Luggage can be placed under the lower bunk. Small luggage space is also available</li></ul> |  Room Compartment corridor      |
| Seat Class       | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>▶ Premium Class</li><li>▶ Second Class</li></ul>   |  Premium Class Second Class |

*Food and beverage service is available in Car No. 8.

Schedule and Fare

One pair of train daily from Friday to Monday for both Beijing route and Shanghai route. Please visit 12306 Online Ticketing Platform for the latest train schedule and fare. You may also check the timetable from the "Ticketing Information" section in High Speed Rail website.

Q&A on Train Facilities

Q How to arrange a berth  ?

A When purchasing tickets, you can choose either upper or lower berth. If you are traveling with companions, the system will arrange the same room with adjacent beds if possible. However, this will depend on the availability of remaining tickets at the time of booking. There is a possibility that you may have to share the room with other passengers.

Tickets sold by station Ticket Machines are randomly assigned to either an upper or lower berth. If passengers need to choose the upper or lower berth, please purchase the tickets through 12306 Online Ticketing Platform (including website and mobile app), or the Ticketing Counter at station or designated Ticket Agents.

Q What facilities are available in accessible room  ?

A The accessible room can accommodate for two passengers with upper and lower berth. Electronic sliding door, wheelchair storage space and Braille guidance signs are available. Passengers in need can contact station staff for enquiries and ticket purchase.

Q How to locate  the berth?

A Passenger can find the car and seat numbers of their tickets from the "Ticket" section of their 12306 account. For sleeper trains, the seat number is the berth number. Alternatively, the information is available on the Trip Information Reminders.

Please board on your car and look for your berth from the illuminated signage outside each room. You may ignore the blue number on the top which is the room number. The berth numbers are in white. Even numbers are for upper berths while the odd numbers refer to lower berths.

Q Is there any food 🍴 supply on the train?

A Yes, the food and beverage counter is located in Car No. 8. But supplies are limited and may not satisfy all passenger requirements. Passengers are encouraged to prepare their own light meals.

Q Any shower facilities 🚿 on the train?

A The sleeper train does not have shower facilities. Passengers are recommended to take a shower before boarding or to bring an extra set of clothes for changing.

Q What is the plug type of charging 🔌 ?

A Each berth is equipped with Hong Kong socket, Mainland socket, USB and Type C plugs. The sockets are also available at compartment corridor and between seats except Hong Kong sockets. Please bring a power bank as a back-up.

Sockets in room

High Speed Rail
App